IN MEMORIAM: BILL DEFranzo

BY HARRIS TOSER

We are very sad to report longtime Non-Sport Update contributor Bill DeFranzo passed away on July 31 at the age of 69 after a brief and courageous battle with cancer. Everyone was shocked by the news after seeing Bill in his usual and healthy form at the May 14 & 15 Philly Non-Sports Card Show.

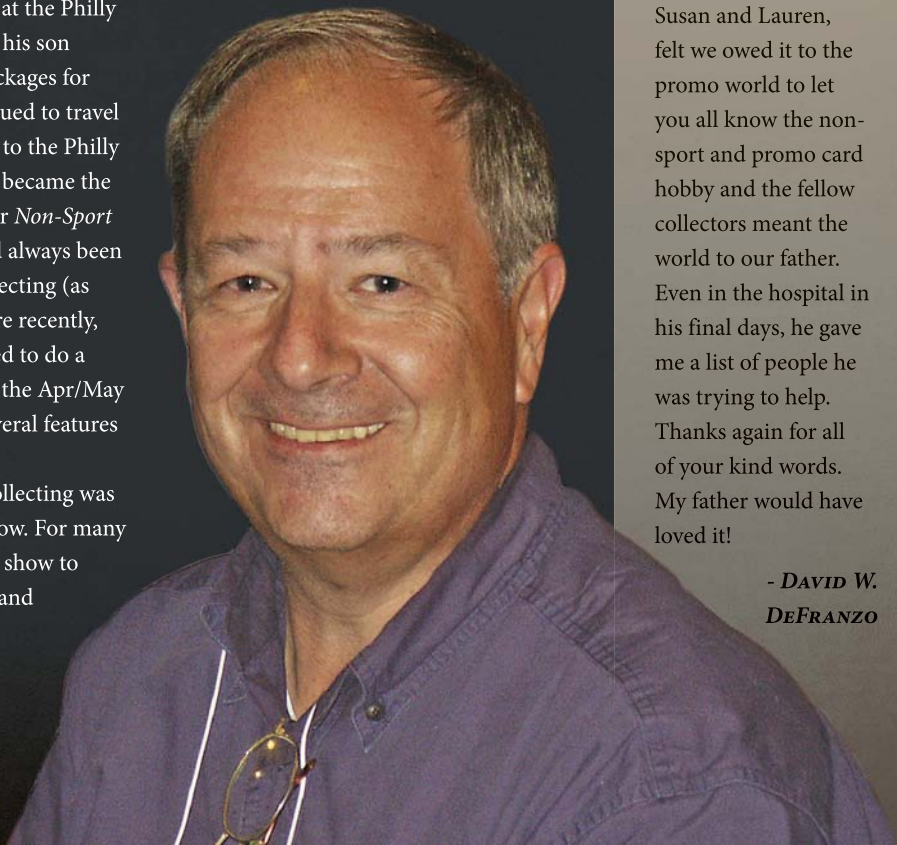

Bill was an ROTC member and U.S. Army veteran. He graduated from Boston College in 1969 and earned a Master's degree from Babson College in 1981. He worked for Liberty Mutual Insurance for 43 years and retired in the mid-2000s as a Senior Systems Analyst. He is survived by his daughters, Lauren M. DeFranzo and Susan E. Wyse, son David W. DeFranzo, sister Marie C. Santamaria, and beloved grandson William M. DeFranzo. He also leaves behind his four-legged companion, Basil.

Bill has been a friend of the Tosers for many years. We first met Bill at the Philly Show when he attended with his son David to purchase Wacky Packages for David. Thereafter, Bill continued to travel from his New England home to the Philly Non-Sports Card Shows. Bill became the new Price Guide Specialist for Non-Sport Update in early 1997. Bill had always been interested in promo card collecting (as well as vintage cards and more recently, hotel key cards) and was asked to do a regular column starting with the Apr/May 1999 issue. Bill also wrote several features for NSU over the years.

Bill's love of promo card collecting was a major asset to the Philly Show. For many years, Bill arrived early at the show to help with show preparations and specifically, the handling of promotional cards. He wanted to share his information with others and let collectors know where they could find promos by publishing a list of the cards available at the show. He was always concerned about those who could not make the show. He carried around lists of cards he might be able to accumulate so that he could send them off to those collectors once the show had ended. Bill was very positive and never had a bad word to say about others. He will be sorely missed as a member of the NSU and Beckett teams, at the Philly Non-Sports Card Show, and as a friend.

Memorial donations in Bill's honor may be made to the New Hampshire SPCA, P.O. Box 196, Stratham, N.H., 03885 or Boston Children's Hospital Trust, 401 Park Drive, Suite 602, Boston, Mass., 02215; two charities Bill loved dearly. NSU

A MESSAGE FROM DAVID W. DEFranzo

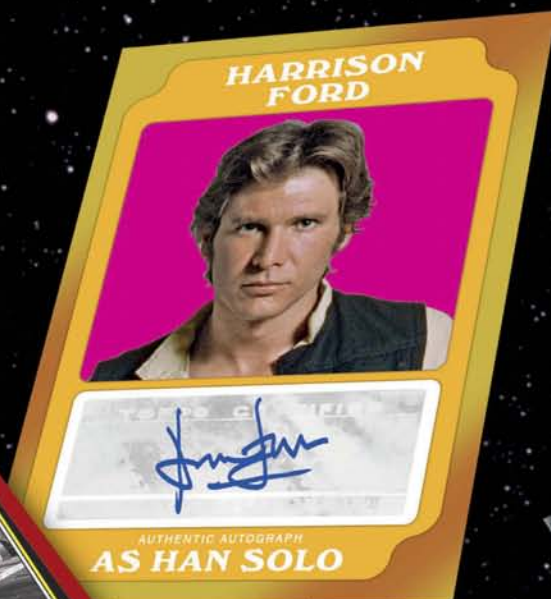

My father was always an aggressive, well-informed collector for as long as I can remember. I will never forget the day he discovered promo cards for the first time at a card show in New Jersey when he asked a dealer, "what is this card, and why is it not in the set I have?" A hobby was born on that day. My father lived and breathed promo cards as well as all things non-sport. I watched my father go the extra mile for any collector who needed help. He met some great people and made some lifelong friends with his hobby. As hard as it is to write these words, I, along with my two sisters, Susan and Lauren, felt we owed it to the promo world to let you all know the non-sport and promo card hobby and the fellow collectors meant the world to our father. Even in the hospital in his final days, he gave me a list of people he was trying to help. Thanks again for all of your kind words. My father would have loved it!

EDITORIAL: LIVING IN INFAMY

There are certain occurrences so striking, so monumental, so crushingly sad even years later that most people remember where they were and what they were doing when they first heard the news. Given the gravity of these catastrophes it's not surprising many of them were memorialized on trading cards.

Surely the sinking of the RMS Titanic on the morning of April 15, 1912 qualifies as one of these painfully significant events. More than 1,500 passengers and crewmen lost their lives on the maiden voyage, ironic as the ship was considered to be unsinkable. In the decades that followed, the Titanic has been eulogized in books, plays, movies, and yes, even on cards. In 1998, Dart Filpcards recreated the event in Titanic Collector Cards while Cult-Stuff celebrated the centennial with RMS Titanic 1912-2012, a set complete with artifacts and artist sketches.

Going from water to air, the explosion of the Dirigible Hindenburg is long remembered. While the accident, which took 36 lives, occurred on May 6, 1937, Topps waited until the release of its headline-leading Scoop set in 1954 to give the tragedy the coverage it deserved. Time itself seemed to stop with the bombing of Pearl Harbor by the Imperial Japanese Navy on December 7, 1941. The sneak attack resulted in the death of over two thousand Americans. This singular incident acted as the catalyst to the United States entry into World War II. Non-sports addressed it in Remember Pearl Harbor, a 50th anniversary 50-card set by Tough Stuff in 1991.

The first profoundly tragic event I can personally recall was the assassination of President John F. Kennedy on November 22, 1963. His untimely death caused people in the street to openly weep. Terrified children were sent home from school. All television programs, except coverage of the event itself, stopped during a three day period of national mourning. The country came to a virtual halt. We recovered, but as a nation we were never truly the same. Kennedy's death marked the end of Camelot and with it, the age of innocence was forever lost. Topps and Rosan put out card sets during his presidential tenure, while his death was mentioned on numerous individual cards in a multitude of composite sets like 1976's Kilpatrick Know Your Presidents and 2012's Upper Deck Goodwin Champions.

Following the death of JFK, two other larger-than-life figures died in rapid succession at the hands of lone assassins: Civil rights leader Martin Luther King on April 4 and New York Senator Robert Kennedy on June 6, 1968. Information on King can be found in Topps 2009 American Heritage. Look for a Robert Kennedy card with death mention in 1992's Americana from Starline.

John Lennon's demise on December 8, 1980 deeply affected music lovers, people of a certain age, and those with particular political and life views. There isn't much to commemorate his passing in non-sports, other than single card back mentions in the 1993 River Group Beatles Collection, within 2011 Topps American Pie, and perhaps a few others.

The ultimate shock of the modern age occurred 15 years ago this month on September 11, 2001. The tragedy cut so deep card manufacturers approached the subject with only the utmost respect. Inkworks published American Pride Commemorative Sticker Cards less than two months later in a wound-healing effort while Chestnut Publications offered Heroes of the World Trade Center Memorial/Tribute/Collector Cards in 2002.

To paraphrase President Franklin D. Roosevelt, these are some of the dates that will live in infamy. In its small way, non-sports helps the world to never forget.

FLASH FORWARD

Cryptozoic Displays Its Need for Speed with The Flash Trading Cards Season 1

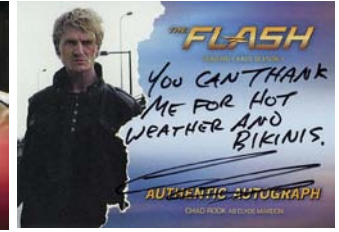

BY ALAN BIEGEL

Ever since he was struck by lightning and doused with lab chemicals during a particle accelerator explosion, Assistant Forensics Police Investigator Barry Allen has been feeling a little...well...perky. In fact, blazing through the streets of Central City is now something Barry can literally do because this freak accident has turned him into the fastest man on earth, a man better known as...The Flash.

FLASH FORWARD

Beginning life as a DC Comics character in January 1940, The Flash has been embodied by four different characters to date, with The Silver Age Barry Allen perhaps being the best known. Rocking a sleek red costume, this Scarlet Speedster uses his super-swiftness for good, leaving a yellow lightning streak in his high-velocity wake. Considered to be one of DC's most popular characters, The Flash has blasted forward from comics to the red hot TV series now on the CW.

In reality, the current video version of The Flash is not the first, with a short-lived TV series broadcast in 1990 preceding it. In an unexpected easter egg, The Flash's father, Henry Allen, is played in the new series by Henry Westley Shipp. As long time Flash fans know, Shipp played Barry Allen in the earlier series. It's winks and nods like this that help keep the current show compelling and smart. In fact, the show's advance buzz was so strong its premiere episode was the CW's most watched telecast...ever.

IT CAUGHT ON IN A FLASH

When card manufacturer Cryptozoic Entertainment realized the new CW series would be a runaway hit they moved quickly to bring The Sultan of Speed to cardboard. When asked why he thought the new series has caught on in the way it has, Cryptozoic's Manager of Product Development, George Nadeau, had this to say, "I think there are several reasons, but it probably boils down to its balance of heart and humor. The premise could have produced a much darker and maudlin show. Certainly, viewers see Barry contend with the pain of witnessing his mother's murder and losing his father due to wrongful imprisonment, but they also get to see the joyful discoveries of his new superhuman abilities. Grant Gustin's winning portrayal [as The Flash], his colorful teammates, and the variety of villains produce a show that makes it fun for viewers to root for the good guys every episode."

Showcasing villains, particularly those readers of the comics would recognize, is something in which The Flash excels. Season 1 presented such fan favorites as Reverse Flash, The Weather Wizard, The Pied Piper, Captain Cold, Heat Wave, The Clock King, and The Trickster. Nadeau's favorite, however, leans more towards simian. "From Season 1, I'll say Grodd is my favorite villain simply because I couldn't believe a weekly, episodic show could meet the technological requirements to portray a giant gorilla."

FLASH MEMORY

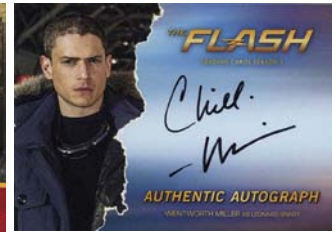

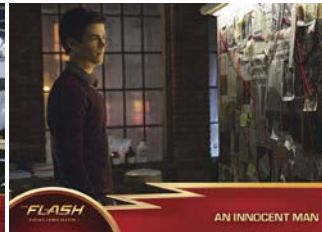

For its live action shows, DC is taking a page from the Marvel Universe by utilizing character crossovers, with Green Arrow, The Flash, Legends of Tomorrow, and now Supergirl all in the mix. Thinking back to his youth, Nadeau feels this is good for the brand and explains why this approach is really nothing new, "I grew up watching the Super Friends cartoon, so I personally love that these characters exist in the same universe and can team up from time to time. The CW has announced an epic crossover between all four shows in December, and I think it'll benefit all brands. I can't wait to see it!"

FLASHDANCE

As for his current project, Nadeau confirmed there are many more steps in the development process than most people realize. "Pre-production begins with reviewing the material, meaning I have to watch a lot of television—it's a tough job but hey, someone's got to do it! Then I send a request to the studio (or a licensing agent who facilitates communication with the studio) detailing the loose structure of the product and requesting assets, including a style guide (logos, icons, graphics, fonts, palettes, legal lines, etc.), unit photography and gallery images, wardrobe and props, status of merchandise rights for talent, and permission to solicit talent to participate. The available assets, as well as the timing of their delivery, dictates our production schedule and can vary widely. Next, four teams work simultaneously to a) design card frames, b) process wardrobe and props, c) acquire autographs, and d) acquire original art and any other set components like flavor text, lenticular cards, and patches from external vendors. All components are submitted to the studio for review as many times as necessary to obtain approval from their Brand Assurance, Creative Services, and legal departments. If the process goes smoothly, all components are assembled and delivered to our printer for the pack-out on schedule.”

Of course, for each component, there are always details within details. “We worked with a member of The Flash writing staff to write the flavor text for our base sets and chase sets,” Nadeau added. “Since its straight from the source, collectors will be able to gain real insight into the main characters, the bad guys, and some of the prominently featured settings in and around Central City. As with all of our licensed trading cards sets, we work directly with the studio to include as much authentic memorabilia as possible. This set contains wardrobe from all the series regulars, plus several notable props. Studios aren’t always able to provide props, so we know fans will really appreciate this set.”

All that work pays off when Nadeau sees all aspects come together. The 72-card base set will feature episodic images from Season 1. A chase set will include Character Bios (1:4 packs), Rogues (1:3), and Locations (1:3). Autograph cards

(1:24) will feature such series notables as Liam McIntyre as Mark Mardon / Weather Wizard, Chad Rook as Clyde Mardon / Weather Wizard, Amanda Pays as Dr. Tina McGee, Doug Jones as Jake Simmons / Deathbolt, Andy Mientus as Hartley Rathaway / Pied Piper, Malese Jow as Linda Park, Logan Williams as Young Barry, William Sadler as Simon Stagg, Anthony Carrigan as Kyle Nimbus / The Mist, Michael Reventar as Farooq Gibran / Blackout, and Emily Kinney as Brie Larvan / Bug-Eyed Bandit. Additional confirmations are expected.

The set will also offer Wardrobe cards (1:24), Dual Wardrobe cards (TBD) and even some very special Prop cards. Says Nadeau, “Warner Bros. generously provided a couple dozen pieces of wardrobe; some for each of the series regulars. We even received small swatches from the costumes of The Flash and Reverse Flash. Collectors will need to be lucky to pull one of these very limited Dual Wardrobe cards. We will insert a handful of Prop cards, too. One of the props is the $25M Fire & Ice Painting, the object that Captain Cold and Heat Wave attempt to steal in ‘Revenge of the Rogues.’ With its unique color variations, we think fans will enjoy collecting pieces of the painting—for a fraction of what the Rathaways paid.”

While there was only one promo produced for this set, which was distributed at the Industry Summit in February and the Philly Non-Sports Show in May, hobbyists can still look forward to a three-ring binder containing an exclusive wardrobe card.

Nadeau sees a long future for this hobby-only product scheduled for release in Quarter three of this year. “We’re all big fans of the show, so the cards will definitely reflect that. There are many cool details in this set that viewers who watch the show every week will appreciate.” In other words, The Flash Trading Cards Season 1 will definitely not be a Flash in the pan. NSU

Non-Sport Notes

For those living in the United States, it's a wonderful time — election season. You might be sick of the commercials and you might not even like any of the candidates. But if those are the biggest issues for our freedom to vote, it's a pretty good life.

As card collectors, we have a fair bit of choice ourselves. We might not have as many sets as we used to, but the market has changed. So has licensing and a lot of peoples' collecting preferences. Still, we have the ability to pick and choose what we want to add to our collections. And if there's nothing current that looks interesting enough, if you're like me, there's plenty of stuff from the past 100 years to fill a lifetime of want lists.

Until about 25 years ago, we really only had basic sets of cards. Today, it's different. Autographs and memorabilia demand much of the attention today. But that doesn't mean that's all there is.

You have choices.

In fact, if base sets and stickers are your thing, it might be a cheaper hobby in most instances if you head right to the secondary market. It's not as thrilling as ripping packs, but it's an option.

Even if the multiple-hits-per-box configuration is the norm today, not every product is like that. Some still go for a simpler approach, particularly when you head to retail stores. Some go in the opposite direction offering small boxes of cards with big price tags.

A cheap product is not aiming for the same audience as one that costs $100+ per box. Different types of collectors are all wanting different types of products. It's virtually impossible to create a set that's for everyone.

For me, I love having these choices. And I suspect I'm not alone.

Yet, all too often I see and head in the opposite direction. You don't have to look hard to find collectors lamenting that this product isn't to their liking, that a license has too many sets, that things aren't like they used to be.

We can choose to take a glass-half-empty approach and get disheartened fast. Or we can choose to look at it another way. Sure, some licenses do have a lot of releases. But if they're thought out well, they come with different angles that try to hit that diversity in the hobby.

I'll use Star Wars as an example. For the past couple of years, Topps has taken more of a sports approach with the franchise. Every year there are lots of new sets added to an already massive body of work. This included The Force Awakens Series 1 and Star Wars High Tek coming out on the same day last December. It's too much for anyone to keep up with as far as chasing master sets.

Is that reason enough to abandon all Star Wars cards? For me it's not. As I look at the last few months of 2016, there are many to choose from. Even though I love the movies and am intrigued by Rogue One, I've got to make some choices. I'm excited I have those. If there were only one or two sets per year, I'd probably go for them no matter what, simply out of habit — even if the themes didn't grab my attention. Simply being Star Wars isn't enough.

It'd be easy to get down on the configuration of one set or not being pleased with how another looked. Instead, I'll leave those sets to those who like that style of release. I'd rather focus on the one of the many sets that I'm super excited about. And that's because of choice, something I think we can all be thankful for in the hobby.

And speaking of choice, you've got plenty of it in this issue. The NSU writing staff dig into several new and upcoming releases including 75 years of Captain America and the first Walking Dead release from Topps. We also look at the premiere of 30 Years of Garbage, documenting on the history of Garbage Pail Kids. With the presidential election, Arnold Bailey looks at some of the political trading cards that are out there. No matter what you choose to collect, I suspect there's plenty to keep you entertained and intrigued.

Finally, we'd like to thank the manufacturers for the promos in this issue. Inside, look for Cryptozoic's Arrow Season 3; '59 Three Stooges Reissue Series (25 different promos randomly inserted) as well as four different Halloween related promos (one per issue) from RRParks CARDS; and The Mob from Historic Autographs.

And, as always, thank you for choosing Non-Sport Update.

75 YEARS OF AMERICA'S HERO

UPPER DECK CELEBRATES CAPTAIN AMERICA

BY RUDY PANUCCI

A full year before the attack on Pearl Harbor, a new superhero appeared on newsstands. Steve Rogers, a 97-pound weakling declared 4-F by the Army, was given an experimental Super Serum and became Captain America.

Captain America was the brainchild of legendary creators Joe Simon and Jack Kirby, who created him to inspire patriotism and embody American values.

Captain America became an iconic superhero with his flag-inspired costume and his titanium shield. He is one of the few Golden Age superheroes to survive into the modern era with his mainstream recognition intact.

E-PACKING THE CAP CARDS

Upper Deck is paying tribute to the legacy of Captain America with Captain America 75th Anniversary Trading Cards, a revolutionary new card set devoted to the comic book history of the hero who was the country's flag come to life. This Captain America edition will be the first Upper Deck entertainment product exclusive to e-Pack. As with most products on e-Pack, the base cards of Cap 75th will be digital only. All inserts, including the rare Trapped Ice and Man Made Vibranium cards, are physical. Collectors can combine 10 copies of any base card to create a foil version of that card. The foil versions are physical and all physical cards can be sent to the collector for an additional fee.

e-Pack is a digital platform that allows collectors to open virtual packs of Upper Deck cards anywhere at any time. Collectors can access and trade their cards from any phone or computer. Upper Deck has teamed up with Check out My Cards (COMC) and Dynamics to make this possible. COMC holds the physical versions of the cards while Dynamics maintains the e-Pack site. That they chose Captain America to be the subject of their first entertainment e-Pack exclusive card set demonstrates Upper Deck's confidence in this new trading card concept.

Upper Deck's Associate Brand Manager, Entertainment Trading Cards, Travis Rhea, explains, "75 years is an incredibly long time for a comic book character to remain relevant. The fact that Captain America has reached this milestone while also enjoying peak popularity is a real testament to the strength and depth of his character. It's a pleasure to help commemorate this occasion and we feel this product showcases the best of Cap through the years."

Captain America is one of the most recognizable fictional heroes created in the 20th century. Not only was he the star of Marvel Studio's most recent blockbuster, Captain America: Civil War, he was also the very first Marvel character adapted to the big screen with a movie serial produced back in 1944, when Marvel was still known as Timely Comics.

Over the last three-quarters of a century, Captain America and his friends and sidekicks have fought for truth, justice and The American Way. This card set will cover his expansive saga using artwork culled from Cap's entire publishing history in his own book and alongside other Marvel Comics characters.

Captain America 75th Anniversary Trading Cards will be comprised of a 60-card base set. This base set will only exist in e-Pack form, although a real-world foil parallel can be obtained physically. There will be physical inserts featuring Captain America, his enemies and his allies.

Other cool inserts include Rare Trapped Ice Character Cards, which will be Plexi/Acetate cards and Man-made Vibranium Cards, the latter crafted in aluminum as a tribute to Captain America's indestructible shield. These are physical cards that can be traded virtually via e-Pack, or collectors can choose to have them physically sent to them.

AMERICA'S HISTORY

Throughout his history, Captain America's comic book adventures have been blessed with some of the best artwork in the business. Simon and Kirby are legends for a reason. Their dynamism and storytelling set the standard for superhero comics for decades. After their departure from Timely Comics in 1941, Captain America continued with top-flight artwork from Al Avison, Syd Shores, Don Rico, and others before ceasing publication in the late 1940s.

After the war, Timely Comics became Atlas Comics, and in 1953 a brief revival of Captain America, now fighting “Commies,” sported art by a young John Romita. This revival was short-lived, and it would be nearly a decade before Captain America was seen in comic books again.

In the late 1950s the entire comic book industry had fallen on hard times and Atlas Comics was nearly wiped out. Their only constant employee was Stan Lee (née Stanley Lieber), the nephew of publisher Martin Goodman’s wife, who had been working in the office as a teen in the early 1940s when he was tapped to take over as the writer of Captain America after Simon and Kirby left. Atlas was about to go out of business when Jack Kirby, having gone solo, returned to the company and created The Fantastic Four with Lee in 1961. This occurred as Atlas Comics became Marvel Comics and began its run as the major creative force known today.

With Marvel Comics finding huge success with superheroes once again, Captain America burst back onto the scene in the fourth issue of Marvel’s super-team book, The Avengers, which has become one of the most memorable comic book stories of all time. Ignoring the 1950s revival (they’d explain that away later), Kirby and Lee crafted a story where Captain America was found by The Avengers floating in the ocean in a hunk of ice, where he’d been since the end of World War II. His young sidekick, Bucky, was apparently dead, and after his revival he had to re-enter society after having been frozen for almost two decades. This was quite a twist and a major change from the Nazi-busting adventures that Captain America had in the 1940s.

With dynamic art from Jack Kirby and Stan Lee’s trademark pathos, new stories of a lost-in-time-fish-out-of-water became some of the most memorable comics of the 1960s. Captain America was now working with America’s espionage agency, S.H.I.E.L.D., often teamed with agents Nick Fury and Sharon Carter to battle super villains who were bent on world domination. In addition to his solo series, Captain America continued as a long-time member and occasional leader of The Avengers.

Captain America comics always featured work by amazing artists. Kirby was arguably at his prime when he revived his co-creation in 1964. When he left the series some of the most impressive names in comic books followed: Jim Steranko, John Buscema, Neal Adams, George Tuska, John Romita Sr., Frank Robbins, Gil Kane, Dave Cockrum, Gene Colan, and more handled the art chores. In the mid-1970s Kirby himself returned for a memorable run, writing and drawing his iconic hero.

Since that time Captain America has been depicted by even more artistic legends, such as Alex Ross, Alan Davis, John Byrne, Mike Zeck, George Perez, John Cassaday, and Bryan Hitch. Even Frank Miller, known for his work on Batman and Daredevil, provided the artwork for a few covers.

Upper Deck will also be including Sketch Cards in the e-Packs of Captain America 75th Anniversary Trading Cards, and the sketch artists include such names as Clint Langley, Anthony Tan, Joe St. Pierre, and as an added bonus, former Marvel Comics editor and artist, Al Milgrom, who was involved with Captain America many times throughout his career.

With such an outstanding array of artists from which to choose, a terrific slate of insert cards and hundreds of classic stories to depict, Upper Deck’s Captain America 75th Anniversary Trading Cards is sure to be an impressive artistic salute to one of the greatest superheroes to ever grace a comic book. NSU

INVADES THE BIG APPLE

The Dead Walk to a New Home at Topps

BY DON NORTON

THE APOCALYPSE INVADES THE BIG APPLE

It has been a long, hot Walking Dead-less summer, with viewers wondering which beloved character gets his or her head smashed in by Negan's bat. The good news is, by the time this issue makes its way to readers, it will be less than a month to the Season 7 premiere. The show is AMC's top rated program, and continues to garner acclaim from both viewers and critics alike. It is exhilarating, heartbreaking, shocking, action-packed horror at its best (usually all in the same episode). And nobody is safe, which brings us back to that part with Negan's bat.

In the non-sport card universe, there is big Walking Dead news as well. The Dead have made the move from California to New York City; NY-based Topps has picked up the license for the show and will now be producing trading cards, beginning with The Walking Dead Season 5. Cryptozoic Entertainment, the west coast company that released seasons one through four on cards, will continue to produce its exciting Walking Dead games.

The Topps team is very excited to have this license, and they have much planned for The Walking Dead in the coming months. This is a huge property to have, and just one of many new titles in the Topps lineup. In recent months they have added the always popular Doctor Who, and have announced another AMC show, Preacher. Non-Sport Update was able to catch up with Topps' Brand Manager for Entertainment Products, Mark Von Ohlen, who provided details on The Walking Dead Season 5 Trading Cards.

SEASON OF THE DEAD

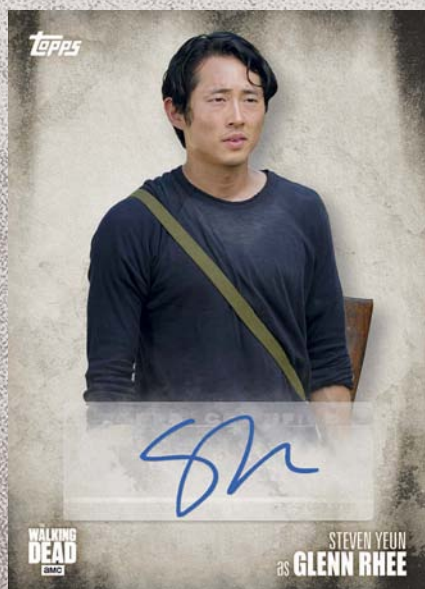

A quick recap: Season 5 began with Rick Grimes and his group bringing down death and destruction upon the cannibalistic residents of Terminus, and ended with the tumultuous evening in Alexandria when Rick kills Jessie's husband while the newly returned Morgan looks on.

In between, there is much action, and many new characters are introduced, including Father Gabriel, Aaron, Deanna, and Jessie. Some notable characters are lost as well, including Tyrese, Bob and Beth.

Topps will take a different approach from Cryptozoic, rather than split the season into two sets, Season 5 will be one 100-card set providing episodic and character coverage. Twenty-four pack boxes will be Hobby only. Topps always includes parallel sets, and this set will feature several numbered parallel sets, including Mold, Rust and Blood (numbered one of one) parallels.

Right now, three chase subsets are planned, covering Character Profiles, Prominent Walkers and Locations. Each box will contain two hits, either autographs, costumes or sketches. Von Ohlen can't provide sketch artist names at this time, but Topps has built up an impressive list of artists over the years and many will be providing art for this set.

Von Ohlen notes that AMC is very good to work with and has provided several show worn costumes. There are at least 12 different costumes, including show favorites Rick, Carl, Daryl, Maggie, and Beth, among others.

THE SIGNING DEAD

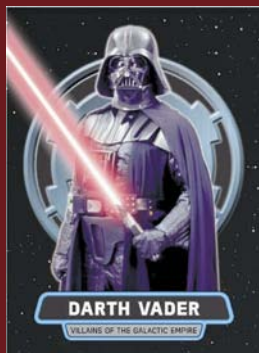

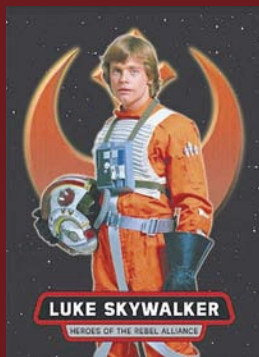

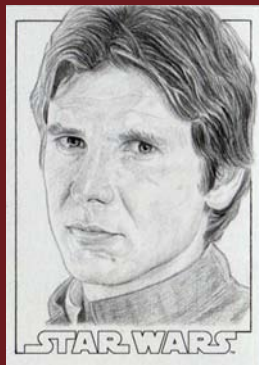

Of course, autographs will be the most sought after insert. At press time the list of signers is incomplete, but already 15 confirmed actors are on board, including some major cast members.

First up, three of the most popular regular cast members, Danai Gurira as Michonne, Steven Yeun as Glenn, and Melissa McBride as Carol, the former meek housewife who has developed into a one-woman army. A first time signer is Seth Gilliam, as Father Gabriel, the struggling priest who betrayed his flock. A surprise signer is young Kyla Kenedy, who played Mika Samuels (she died in Season 4, but appeared in a Season 5 episode as an apparition to the dying Tyrese).

More signers will be announced soon; check Topps' website for updates. Besides the single autos in the attractive new design, look for hard to find Dual and Triple autographs.

For those high-tech collectors who would like to expand their virtual collections, Topps has offered their Card Trader series for select sports and non-sport titles. On their website, www.topps.com, The Walking Dead and Fear the Walking Dead subjects are available for digital collecting and trading. Simply download the app from The App Store or Google Play to start the fun.

Collectors have seen The Walking Dead sets based on each season so far, but the team at Topps has experience thinking up creative new themes for their titles, so this is only the beginning. Perhaps one day there'll be something like The Walking Dead Evolution. The Walking Dead Season 5 will release in late November. Looking ahead, Von Ohlen hopes to have The Walking Dead Season 6 ready for a Spring 2017 release. See the next issue of Non-Sport Update for more news on Topps' The Walking Dead. NSU

ROGUE ONE: MISSION BRIEFING

Finally, Star Wars is expanding beyond the original six films. Last year's The Force Awakens included both new and familiar characters, and this year, fans will see the first stand-alone film in the Star Wars universe, Rogue One: A Star Wars Story.

Rogue One shows how the rebel forces obtained the plans to the Death Star, which enabled Luke Skywalker to destroy it in Star Wars: A New Hope. The stars include Felicity Jones, Alan Tudyk, and Forest Whitaker, and from previous films, Genevieve O'Reilly as Mon Mothma with James Earl Jones reprising his voice role as Darth Vader.

Topps has been making Star Wars cards forever, and they are giving Rogue One the full treatment. There are multiple Rogue One sets planned, and the first will appear in early October, two months prior to the December 18 movie premiere.

Rogue One: Mission Briefing will be a prequel set, similar to last year's Star Wars: Journey to the Force Awakens. Topps' Mark Von Ohlen was able to fill NSU in on details for this product.

The 100-card base set will be printed on Heritage stock, with a retro 1986 design. The set will look back at the previous films' many references to the Death Star, its crew and those who are trying to destroy it. It will also tie in some of the new cast from Rogue One. There will be five levels of parallels, with Gray, Gold and Orange as Hobby only.

Look for at least six chase subsets, covering topics such as characters and propaganda posters. Strengths of Darth Vader, a 15-card set, will include five cards in Mission Briefing, and five cards each in future Rogue One sets.

Look for two hits per box, which will include Patch Cards, Print Plates, sketches and autographs. Von Ohlen says they have lined up 80 signers including many first timers, along with stars like Harrison Ford and Carrie Fisher. Look for dual and triple autos, signed Print Plates and a very special Quad Autograph Book.

Rogue One: Mission Briefing will be a great way to prepare for the exciting film release.

LES WRAP

LES DAVIS PUSHES HIS SEMINAL NON-SPORT PUBLICATION PASSED #300

Many NSU readers are aware of The Wrapper, a news-print publication serving the non-sport realm since October 1978. Its owner, Les Davis, asserts his paper resides in a niche. That compartment fosters fellowship among hobbyists through articles on vintage card sets and advertisements by long-term dealers.

"When you have something that comes out every six to seven weeks, that's important for the hobby and people's lives," Davis said. "And we've grown old together; the average reader age is over 65 years."

In July, Davis shipped The Wrapper's 300th issue. The publisher tends to downplay its significance. Many milestones have been reached during the paper's lifetime. One accomplishment, though, cannot be ignored. Every Wrapper edition has been released on time for the past 38 years.

NOT A ONE MAN BAND

Although the administration of The Wrapper has always been a one-man operation, Davis, who never claimed expertise on the non-sport field, assembled a core unit of respected writers with impressive knowledge. The informative and entertaining content provided counterpoint to the display and classified ads found within each issue.

The Wrapper itself remains a contemporary representation of the hobby publications that existed in the 1970s and '80s. Most had been typewritten; a few were typeset.

"At the beginning, Dan Dischley's The Trader Speaks, which was a sports collecting paper, became my first model," Davis recalled. "And I also enjoyed The Buyer's Guide by Alan Light. That was a weekly for comics and art. You never knew how big it would be from issue to issue. Today with computers, you'd consider it a mess with hand-drawn ads. [John Stommen's] Sports Collectors Digest was also important because of the enormous issues [he could] put out on a semi-monthly basis."

Davis said his love for publications began early in life. Baseball magazines provided much enjoyment during his grammar and high school years, along with a burgeoning interest in American history and literature.

"During my time at Northern Illinois University, I spent many hours in the school's library," Davis commented. "This goes back to 1961. I'd never seen so many journals and books in one place. The library also had photocopiers, and I'd put my nickels in and reproduce pictures and articles. I very much had an idea of putting together small books that showed my interests in photography and writing."

After receiving his Master's degree from NIU, Davis began his teaching career, eventually landing an English and history position at a West Chicago, IL junior high school. During his 13-year tenure, students were not treated to mere arid book learning. Youngsters were encouraged in creative writing by keeping journals, composing poetry and also fabricating dioramas of American historical events. After school, Davis organized junior high floor hockey leagues which tapped into his enthusiasm for the NHL and its parallel collecting ventures.

In 1975, the educator plunged into his first mimeographed work, Hockey Forum. It became the basis of what the earliest Wrapper issues later became. For about a year, both Hockey Forum and The Wrapper overlapped in production. The workload forced choices to be made. His wife, also a teacher, sought to transition into accounting. He retired from his school in 1983 and elected to concentrate on The Wrapper full time, becoming a stay-at-home dad for his two daughters.

THE WRAPPER

Davis' initial fascination for non-sport collectibles manifested in 1977. "My brother-in-law had a large cache from his childhood. He saved not only cards, but also wrappers, boxes, Freedom's War, Wings, everything in non-sports and also baseball. When I saw the artwork, it hit me that I enjoyed looking at all that material. That enthusiasm was reflected later in the first Wrapper issues."

His paper's masthead originally carried a double meaning: A gum wrapper zine for hobbyists "rapping" of their pursuits in collecting. At that time, the non-sport community lacked its very own publication, unlike the sports collecting industry which had at least four major periodicals. Early supporters included future Non-Sport Update publisher Roxanne Toser and card vendor Martin Ballistreri. Davis pointed out both supplied encouragement and pushed for a medium to cater to a nascent, independent non-sport community. Therefore, The Wrapper appeared as a forum to share little known or forgotten information and anecdotes on vintage and contemporary collectibles and to promote a pastime often referred to as the "kid sibling" to baseball cards.

"Three things give legitimacy to a hobby," Davis opined. "First, publications, which The Wrapper serves in some way; second, conventions where people can get together; and third, some kind of guide books." Indeed, in The Wrapper's first years, no bookstore price guides existed until 1981 when the Sport Americana Non-

Sport volume debuted.

At its zenith, The Wrapper carried 3,300 subscribers along with sales agreements with Diamond Distribution and Capital City. Although his paper exceeded expectations in terms of popularity, the expansion made the publisher uneasy.

"I didn't like the busiest years at all," Davis admitted. "I was actually frightened by it. Every gas station and grocery store seemed to have non-sport cards. People would call me with ideas for sets, but they had no idea what a certain project would entail. For example, who would be the audience? Eventually, I thought the bubble would burst, and eventually it did. But it was certainly a money-making time."

Today, The Wrapper's readership has leveled off to a more modest number. People leave the hobby or suffer ultimate mortality. The Wrapper and Davis have always been honest with readers to the point of becoming an unassuming, but steady constant in non-sports.

"We're still about people," Davis concluded. "I've been amazed at how many subscribers come back after about a five-to-ten-year absence. The Wrapper was never about making a substantial profit. It was about ideas I had putting little books together." NSU

FINDING THE MOB

Sub: Hunt for Historic Autograph's The Mob set began in Atlantic City

Historic Autographs, the company that has launched HOF: Baseball Jersey Edition, the Art of Football and the Civil War set, is bringing The Mob to the market.

The set features the most notorious mobsters in American history, with Premium boxes of the product including 1-2 autographs per box.

Historic Autographs has two distinct configurations:

- Premium boxes have two Beckett BGS-graded MOB cards and 1-2 autographs.

- Set boxes contain a complete 40-card base set, 10 short prints (either the 10 odd numbers or the 10 even numbers) and 3-4 inserts, Autographs are 1:60 set boxes.

Although Historic Autographs rarely has a suggested retail price, the Premium boxes were selling at $125 at the National Sports Collectors Convention the first week of August in Atlantic City. Set boxes were priced at $20 per set.

It's important to note that the Beckett graded cards in the Premium box are a different set from the raw cards that come in the set boxes. The only place to find the limited edition BGS-graded cards is in the Premium boxes.

PROMOS RELEASED

According to Historic Autographs owner Kevin Heffner, the product depicts a part of American history- both the criminal element and those who worked to bring them to justice - and he's hoping The Mob will find its place in the non-sport market just as his Historic Autographs Civil War Appomattox set did last year.

Special promo cards of The Mob were distributed at The National by Historic Autographs' distributor partners Blowout Cards, Dave and Adams Card World and Steel City Collectibles through special promotions at their respective booths. A fourth card - that depicting The Untouchables - was only available at the Beckett Media booth.

The Untouchables unit, led by famed Eliot Ness, was the subject of a successful TV series from 1959-1963 and made into a 1987 film starring Kevin Costner, Sean Connery and Robert De Niro. NSU

NEW & NOTEWORTHY

by Alan Biegel

This year, non-sports makes Halloween a happening. Now's the time to fill your cauldron with some of these creatively creepy cards:

Hallowe'en: Witchcraft

Perna Studios must really love to scare people. This October, Elaine and Tony Perna will be releasing their third Halloween-themed trading card set, Hallowe'en: Witchcraft, to an anxiously awaiting public. "Witchcraft will be very limited with only 400 to 500 sets being produced," advised Elaine. The company plans on utilizing a 10-card base set with some very special extras just to add some fearsome fun. "These will be made in set format, sealed in a clear acrylic card box," Elaine explained. "[In addition to the] base cards, each set will contain one of four spot foil chase cards and a hand drawn sketch art card. There will also be metal, lenticular and redemption chase cards randomly inserted in sets. We also hope to have limited edition metal sketch cards for this set but they are still in the process of being made."

Rather than following the format of their previous holiday products, the Pernas are narrowing their focus this time to spotlight those broom-riding, spell-casting necromancers—witches. To insure the set is truly representative of the black arts, Witchcraft will feature sorcerers of both the Halloween and coven varieties.

Since Elaine and Tony are both professional artists, it comes as no surprise that they have hired only top talent for this project, and will even be participating themselves. Said Elaine, "Yes, Tony and I both plan on drawing sketch cards for this set. Tony will also be drawing a base card for this release, as well. We have 50 artists working; some will be contributing sketch card art and some will also be contributing base and chase card art. You can expect to see sketch cards by Melike Acar, Sean Pence, Samantha Johnson, Chris Meeks, Juri H. Chinchilla, Yuriko Shirou, Anthony Tan, Achilleas Kokkinakis, Andre Toma, and many more."

Hallowe'en: Witchcraft, which will be supported by a total of five bewitching promo cards, will SRP for $34.99 USD.

Blood Drive: The Parody Collection

Blood drives are usually held for noble purposes but this one's being done just for fun. In the words of producer RetroDrive, "Blood Drive: The Parody Collection is a new multimedia franchise that explores pop culture through the adventures of a group of genetically engineered creatures. The upcoming trading card set features Radar and his friends lovingly lampooning some of the most popular television and film franchises over the last fifty years while celebrating the fandom that has made it all so popular and long lasting."

The set, which should debut via a Kickstarter campaign this month, will consist of 80 vintage style base cards printed on chipboard with a high level of chase, including foil parallels, metal cards, and one-of-a-kind sketches. Says company rep, Bobby Ray Akers, Jr., "If the Kickstarter does well, we have several more potential chase card offerings planned. Further retail and hobby shop versions will be determined at the conclusion of the Kickstarter."

True to their name, RetroDrive is employing old school packaging for their Blood Drive product. "Each Kickstarter Exclusive wax pack will contain one stick of screen printed inedible gum for that classic, vintage trading card feel. It's basically a piece of pink foam with a graphic screen printed on it," noted Akers.

Potential collectors have already been given an advance look at Blood Drive, with three promo cards released (including one in the Feb-Mar 2016 issue of Non-Sport Update) and through wax. "A test wax pack, Blood Drive: Creature Collection, was available at Wizard World Chicago August 2015 and the October 2015 Philly Non-Sports Card Show," alerted Akers.

So, if you like your sci-fi, horror and fantasy with a cartoony twist, flap your batwings over to Kickstarter and support this colorfully distinctive set.

Monster Metal

Looking for a metal Mummy? Need some chrome on your Creature? Want to put a shine on your Frankenstein? Then RetroDrive has just what you desire with Monster Metal, a new gold and silvery set available next month. “One of the core purposes of RetroDrive is to offer up unique sets of cards that can’t be found anywhere else. Monster Metal is a hyper limited, all metal set that plays with the classic monsters in a new light, and I felt that the metal cards gave the artwork a fun retro silver screen look,” remarked Bobby Ray Akers, Jr. of the inventive company.

To get the best look for their product, Akers has hired Faerie Metal to produce the cards and SideKick Media to manufacture the packaging. Limited Edition Silver and Gold box sets will be available at the Philly Non-Sports Card Show to be held in Allentown, PA.

on October 15th and 16th. Sets will be limited to 50 Silver and 10 Gold. There will also be a Philly Red Metal Card Exclusive, limited to 25. Says Akers, “This is the first of three planned Monster Metal sets. Monster Metal will be a fantastic and unique addition to anyone’s collection.”

For more information on any of RetroDrive’s products, take a peek at retrodriveultra.com...if you dare.

A Heapin’ Helpin’ of Halloween

If anyone’s got the Halloween spirit this year, it’s Richard Parks over at RRParks CARDS. Parks is scaring up at least four different spookified sets this season to the devilish delight of ghosts and goblins everywhere.

The horrors begin with Halloween Trick or Treat Series Four, the latest in his ongoing pageant of terrifying trading cards. “[The set will include] either nine or 10 different Halloween trading cards with nostalgic, full color Halloween art on the fronts with an illustrated telling of the Halloween classic, The Raven, on the backs,” informed Parks. To give the product an old time feel, the set will be packed in a distinctive wrapper.

Monster Choke

’n Gag Series Three comes next, complete with black & white B-movie stills and very silly captions. Says Parks, “[The set offers] more dumb jokes and often ‘rude’ riffs of classic [monster movies], just like in the good ol’ days of the 1960s. Packaging will be the usual Monster Choke ’n Gag ‘foldee’ with clipout cards.”

For those who are really into B-movies (and maybe even C-movies) The Dungeon of Doctor Dreck is a must have. Launching as a cooperative effort between Michael Legge (aka Dr. Dreck) and Richard Parks, the set will be produced in “good ol’ retro-stalgic style,” a process Parks has used in some of his previous products. The project is being planned as two different pack sets, with each pack holding a generous eight or nine cards. Also included will be a piece of fake and horrific cardboard gum and perhaps a hobby first: a mini pack of four cards INSIDE the pack of eight or nine cards. The focus will be on glossy B&W photos of Doctor Dreck and the zombie cheerleader Moaner, along with stills of classic monster movies.

If having a dark and artful Halloween is desired then The Grim Reaper Series Two must be seriously considered. “Series One was such a success (pre and post the Kickstarter campaign) that I’m doing a second series featuring grotesque artwork in full color, along with text in ‘olde German,” Parks acknowledged. Packaging is yet to be determined, but, according to the card maven, will most likely be a ‘slip-style’ sleeve.

All four of these shivery sets are available via a single Kickstarter, with release planned before the frost is on the pumpkin. NSU

30 YEARS OF GARBAGE

The Garbage Pail Kids Story Movie Premier

BY HARRIS TOSER

Back on July 1, I traveled to New York City for the world premier of 30 Years of Garbage: The Garbage Pail Kids Story. The documentary had been in the making for quite some time—two and a half years from its initial (and unfortunately, unsuccessful) Kickstarter campaign to the NYC premier.

GP A-OK

It was quite a thrill to go to a movie premier based around a trading card series, especially one which my mother appears in and was partially filmed in the old NSU offices (more on this later). The only other trading card related movie premier was for Mars Attacks! in 1996. That one was also held in NYC and we were lucky enough to go to that one as well, but that's a whole other story. The GPK doc premier was held at Anthology Film Archives in the East Village. An after party was held several blocks away at Solas Bar.

Many of the documentaries subjects, producers, and others instrumental in getting the movie made were in attendance including: co-producers Joe Simko, June Gonzales and Jeff Zapata; executive producers Aaron Booton and Matthew Chojnacki; associate producer Matthew Hawkins; contributors

Mark Newgarden, James Warhola, Roxanne Toser, Mark Pingitore, Simeon Lipman, Buff Monster, and David Gross. Dr. Chud, who wrote and composed songs for 30 Years of Garbage, and who is also the drummer for punk band, The Misfits, was also on hand.

Before the movie got underway, we spotted an attendee in a dress with GPK images arranged from top to bottom. Heather McDonald had traveled from Laguna Beach, CA with her father, Don Yaffee, to New York just for the movie premier. Their stories were just two of many great GPK-related stories we heard that night (a companion piece featuring many of these stories and more related to the premier is planned for the NSU blog). The condensed version is this: Don first bought Heather GPK stickers in the 1980s when she was sick with the flu. Heather loved the stickers and Don continued to buy them for her on special occasions. In fourth grade, Heather went to her school's PTA-sponsored Halloween contest as GPK sticker "Stormy Heather." And guess who won even though the stickers were banned from her school?

But that's not the end of the story or McDonald's and Yaffee's GPK love affair. Today, Heather is a teacher and continues to collect GPK stickers. She offers students who earn an "A" stickers and they literally run to her desk to pick out their favorites. She finds it ironic how GPK stickers were once banned from schools and now are offered as an incentive. There's much more to the story so be sure to read the NSU blog for the longer version.

After the premier, I got a chance to speak with many of those on camera and behind the camera who were involved with the making of the movie to ask how they felt about the doc's release and what they were thinking while the projector rolled and the crowd enthusiastically cheered each time a new personality hit the screen.

"I wanted to make sure everyone was having a good time and the excitement was shared with everyone throughout the whole night. I was also hoping the film wouldn't break down in the middle of the showing!" says Joe Simko while Simko's wife, June Gonzales, said, "My thoughts were of anxiety over everyone finally seeing our creation and whether they'd enjoy it. I noticed all the flaws, since I've seen this footage about 30 times. My emotions were a bit frazzled. When I saw my cat, Blanche, humongous on the screen in one of Joe's interviews, I was really emotional because she passed away in June of 2014."

The third producer on 30 Years of Garbage is Jeff Zapata, who worked at Topps for nearly 15 years. Zapata says, "I was honored to have worked with Joe and June. The post-production and overall Kickstarter campaign was organized by them after a third partner of ours left the film. June did a lot of added editing and Joe organized the animation and music. They saved the movie whenever someone quit or left. All of our hard work and personality is up on that screen.” (EDITOR’S NOTE: Sean Tiedeman left the project midway through production. Tiedeman filmed many of the interviews and was instrumental in getting the original Kickstarter set up.)

Aaron Booton and Matthew Chojnacki, 30 Years’ two executive producers, have very similar stories to tell. Both collected GPKs as kids and both wrote the Topps company in the mid-1980s looking for more information. They received a form letter in response. Listed on the reverse were the names of three dealers with whom they could get in contact. They wrote all three and only received a response from one, a handwritten note from Roxanne Toser. While Booton has become fast friends with my mother over the years, this was Chojnacki’s first opportunity to meet her.

“The NYC premiere was definitely one of those out-of-body experiences,” says Booton. He continued, “Being even remotely mixed in with this group of talented artists and creators is beyond my means of comprehension.” Chojnacki, who has written a book detailing the history of 7” and 12” vinyl 1980s record sleeves (Put the Needle on the Record) as well as two volumes of Alternate Movie Posters: Film Art from the Underground says, “A full circle moment had me clearing ‘80s music for the film, including songs by Men Without Hats (‘The Safety Dance’) and Baltimora (‘Tarzan Boy’). It’s amazing how projects can interweave in your life.”

Pop Culture Specialist and Appraiser, Simeon Lipman, who regularly appears on Antiques Roadshow and was also featured in the documentary, had two amusing childhood stories to tell about nearly being kidnapped while collecting GPK stickers (take that Pokémon Go) and being blown away when he learned a second series had been released. Once again, you’ll want to read our blog feature.

Lipman also shared his thoughts after seeing the documentary premier. “I really loved learning about Topps as an actual entity,” says Lipman. He adds, “In my mind, it was like nirvana. Just the name Topps used to make me so happy as a kid. To hear the nuts-and-bolts of it—how it was very industrial and it was in the Brooklyn Navy Yard. I loved the story where you could taste the sugar in the air. I loved hearing those stories. It made the history come alive. That was probably my favorite thing in the movie. I also loved they gave props to Woody Gelman who I’m fascinated by. He’s one of my favorite individuals in pop culture history.”

Roxanne Toser, my mother and original NSU publisher, sold Garbage Pail Kids in the 1980s and remembers how she “ate and slept Garbage Pail Kids.” She says, “Everything revolved around sorting the stickers and making sure the sets included all of the variations for my customers... And speaking of my customers... two special ones, Aaron Booton and Matthew Chojnacki, were featured in the movie. I have kept in touch with Aaron over these many years and was thrilled to reconnect with Matthew at the premiere of 30 Years of Garbage in New York. I’ve heard various stories about the making of GPK stickers over the years but the film was very enlightening, entertaining and educational.”

Another thing that struck Roxanne while viewing the doc was a personal one (and one I can acutely attest to, as well). Roxanne says, “A tree fell on our office on Mother’s Day and the contractor has been repairing it ever since. Everything is out of the office so when I saw 30 Years of Garbage, it brought back memories of what the room looked like at the time of the filming, how, after years and years, it will never look like that again, and even more so, it brought back memories of the fun time when I was in the mail order business and GPK stickers were first issued.”

GPK PROMOS

Seeing the documentary was a lot of fun. The Director’s Cut was exclusively shown at the NYC premier, though the DVD, which is now available to purchase (30yearsofgarbage.com), also includes over seven hours of bonus features. For you completists, you might note there are ten promo cards associated with the movie that can be found. Seven of the cards were given to backers of the Indiegogo campaign (each features artwork by GPK masters: Tom Bunk, Layron DeJarnette, David Gross, Brent Engstrom, Mark Pingitore, Joe Simko, and Jeff Zapata). Three other promos (P1, P2, and P3) feature the movie poster on the front with one featuring a description of the film on the back and the other two listing all film backers who donated $100 or more.

LADIES & GENTLEMEN,

by Arnold Bailey

THE PRESIDENTS OF THE UNITED STATES

As the U.S. Readies for #45, Non-sports Takes Notice of Past POTUS

In 1951, the newly approved 22nd Amendment to the U.S. Constitution limited to two terms the number of years a person could serve in the nation's presidency. In 1972, it was Topps' good fortune there were no such limits on the use of a president's image on non-sport cards. That was the year Topps produced 43 cards in a U.S. Presidents set that must have looked very familiar to collectors. That's because Topps recycled images it had used before. In fact, these images had been used not just once before, but twice.

The first time was in 1952 when Bowman created them for a set of 36 U.S. Presidents cards (33 presidents and three historic events). The second was in 1956, which was the first time Topps recycled the images to produce another series of 36 U.S. Presidents cards. By then, Topps had purchased Bowman, its chief competitor in the card game, and must have felt resurrecting the images was part of the deal.

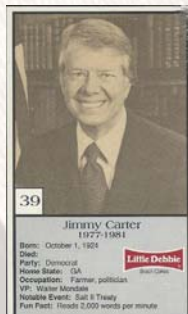

Then, 16 years later, Topps produced another series of U.S. Presidents cards and again recycled the artwork for the nation's first 33 chief executives on cards almost identical to their counterparts in the 1952 Bowman and 1956 Topps sets.

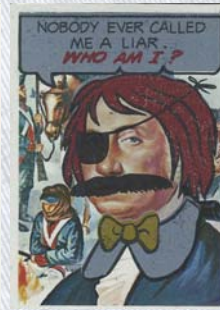

The 1972 set does add new artwork of the three presidents (John F. Kennedy, Lyndon B. Johnson and Richard M. Nixon) elected since the 1956 series.

To be fair, recycling photographs and artwork from card set to card set had been a common practice. Consider, for example, the baseball cards picturing a New York Giants pitcher named Sheldon Jones in the late 1940s and early 1950s. The same photo of Jones was used on six different cards made by three companies (Bowman, Topps and Berk Ross) over five years. The cardmakers did attempt to disguise their guise by cropping and/or colorizing the all-too-familiar photo of the ballplayer nicknamed "Available." Apparently Jones was more available to pitch than to pose for photographs.

CARDS & POSTERS OF CANDIDATES

The 1972 Topps U.S. Presidents set has 43 cards and 15 mini-posters. The cards are standard size (2 1/2" x 3 1/2") while both its 1956 set and Bowman's 1952 series were larger (2 1/2" x 3 3/4"). The early Bowman and Topps sets both had 33 presidents cards (George Washington through Dwight Eisenhower) plus three cards that are event related. The 1972 checklist includes 36 presidents (Washington through Nixon). The presidents' names are in a scroll decorated with an eagle logo at the bottom of the card front. Backgrounds are designed to illustrate an event important to that president's tenure. This would be a more effective technique if Topps had added a brief description of the event, as was done with the 1976 Know Your Presidents sets produced by Bel-Art for Rainbo, Colonial and Kilpatrick bakery products.

Added to the three additional presidents are cards that have black-and-white photos of seven of the many possible Democrat candidates in a campaign that had even more office seekers than the wild 2016 presidential race. There also are 15 candidate poster inserts, measuring about 5" x 7" with black and white photos and blank backs. Some are basic "Vote for..." posters while others present candidates with personalized, occasionally poetic, tag lines like "All The Way With LBJ."

The 1972 wrappers have a patriotic red, white and blue design with the Mount Rushmore presidential images as the centerpiece. Display boxes have images of Washington and Nixon.

While the card front images of the three sets have the same portraits, Topps did change Bowman's card back design. The 1952 Bowman issue is simple and uncluttered while the Topps cards are much more elaborate. The biographical info is identical. Typical are the narratives of the three Franklin D. Roosevelt cards. That's an appropriate example since his longest-serving tenure was one of the motivations for the 22nd Amendment six years after he died in office during his fourth term. All three FDR narratives begin with "Spent most of his boyhood..." and end "...Died, Apr. 12, 1945 in first year of 4th term."

Topps resurrected the images again in 1976 for a series of presidents cards produced for Holsum and distributed with the company's bread. In the nation's bicentennial year, the cards remained the same except for a footnote on the Nixon card that mentions his Watergate-spurred resignation and an additional card of Gerald Ford who assumed the presidency after Nixon left town.

FEAR, LOATHING AND LINCOLN'S HAIR

Nixon clobbered South Dakota Sen. George McGovern in 1972 by the widest margin ever in a presidential election. Other candidates included Hubert Humphrey, Shirley Chisholm, John Lindsay, Edmund Muskie, Ted Kennedy, and George Wallace. The long months of political infighting became grist for what may be the most popular book about presidential elections, Fear and Loathing: On The Campaign Trail '72, a compilation of articles Hunter S. Thompson wrote for Rolling Stone.

Non-sport cards picturing U.S. presidents have a long history, dating back to the late 19th Century. The previously mentioned Topps and Bowman issues are among close to 130 different sets focused directly on U.S. presidents. In addition, there are cards picturing individual presidents in many other sets focused on general topics.

The most striking of the latter group is an Abraham Lincoln card in the 2008 SP Legendary Cuts baseball-oriented series. The card pictures Lincoln and features his cut signature and a strand of his hair neatly embedded. It recently sold for $17,500 online in a Beckett Media auction. Previously, the most expensive presidential non-sport card had been the elusive William McKinley portrait from the 1932 R-114 U.S. Caramel American Heroes set, two of which have changed hands in the $10,000 range.

As the cost of presidential campaigns has risen dramatically in recent decades, prices have also increased for some of the many cards that picture U.S. presidents. NSU

So Nice He Did It Twice!

Collectors of card sets that picture U.S. presidents would do well to remember one of them is listed as both the 22nd and 24th chief executive. That's because Grover Cleveland served two non-consecutive terms, and is the only president to do so. He was president from 1885 to 1889 and again from 1893 to 1897, with Benjamin Harrison serving the four years in between.

As a result, card numbers can be confusing. For example, Barack Obama is the 44th U.S. president, although he's just the 43rd person to serve in that office. Most presidential card sets include just one card picturing Cleveland, but describe his split service in his bio.

PULLING DAISYS

Everybody Loves Daisy. And fans wanting the autograph of Star Wars breakout star Daisy Ridley now have several trading card options.

BY MIKE PAYNE

Just 10 months ago, the industry had zero Daisy Ridley certified autographs in trading card products.

Now she appears in three products, with more on the way – and soon.

Leaf Trading Cards was the first to announce a confirmed deal with the iconic star of Star Wars: The Force Awakens in which her character, Rey, became one of the breakout stars of the film and the franchise. At the time of the announcement in Hawaii, Leaf President Brian Gray literally got off the phone with Daisy's representative confirming the agreement for an unspecified number of signatures, then hit the podium a few minutes later to announce the deal. It created a significant buzz. Daisy is big time.

"It's the most we've ever paid for a female entertainer," Gray told Beckett Media outside of the main meeting room of the Sheraton Waikiki, moments before making the announcement at the podium.

Those first autographs began appearing in packs of 2016 Leaf Pop Century in August, then Panini followed up by placing Ridley in its 2016 Donruss Football as part of the long-running and immensely popular Fans of the Game insert. The card includes the NFL shield logo, but is not team-specific. Whether Daisy considers "football" to be the Dallas Cowboys vs. the Green Bay Packers or Manchester United vs. Liverpool is irrelevant. She has autographs, and they are being chased.

While Leaf and Panini were the first with actual autographs placed in packs, it was Topps – the only manufacturer licensed to picture Ridley as Rey in Star Wars card products – that made headlines by announcing the first Ridley autograph . . . and then quickly pulling that announcement faster than Daisy could sign her first name.

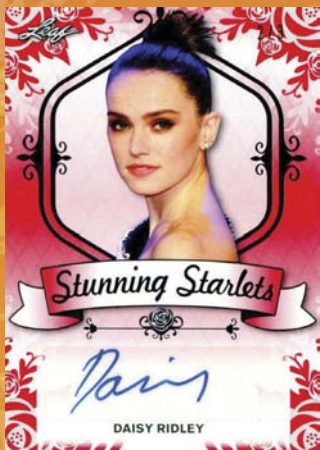

The situation started with Topps publishing an online checklist – and actually confirming the contents of the checklist – indicating that Daisy Ridley would be in 2015 Topps Star Wars: The Force Awakens Series 1 as a "Mystery Redemption" autograph card. Soon after, however, the card was designated as TBA and all the talk in all corners of message boards throughout the galaxy centered on that Mystery Redemption that was by then selling on eBay for $1,500-$2,000 – real money to most mere mortals.

Speculation ran rampant. Would that be Daisy, as Topps had initially indicated? Or would those shelling big bucks for what they THOUGHT would be the actress' signature end up getting a nice Admiral Ackbar or Guavian Enforcer autograph?

Topps was happy – no, ecstatic – to announce at The National Convention in early August that the Mystery Redemption would be Ridley. And those who bought the Mystery Redemption thinking it would be Ridley but not really knowing . . . well, they exhaled a collective sigh of relief.

Some savvy Star Wars collectors began to suspect that maybe Topps had finally inked the actress to an autograph deal when her signature began appearing on Topps' Star Wars Card Trader online app. Yes, those are electronic signatures on a JPEG card, but Topps would have to have secured a deal with Daisy to include her signature on the online offerings.

And then David Leiner, Topps' Vice President and General Manager of North America Sports & Entertainment, seemed to reveal the good news of Ridley autographs during a Topps Q&A session at The National in Atlantic City. "Given that we have her autographs in digital format," he told a crowd of about 300, "something tells me we may have her elsewhere as well."

Shortly thereafter, the official announcement was made and the choice of Daisy as the Mystery Redemption autograph was confirmed.

Topps holds exclusive rights to picturing Ridley in Star Wars garb. Some will prefer that, but it's clear from online sales of her other autographs that others don't mind seeing her in red carpet glamour shots, either. The first Daisy Ridley autograph from Topps, which was #d/25, sold for $2,000 on eBay.

The company has announced that Ridley autographs will appear in the high-end Star Wars Masterpiece set, and those autographs will be on-card. That product is scheduled for a November release.

While autograph terms for manufacturers is very much proprietary information, entertainment stars from blockbuster films with no previous autographed trading cards can command in the neighborhood of $100 per signature . . . or more. For Ridley, fans and collectors were hoping to see a full signature, but so far she's signed just Daisy. That won't bother some collectors. Others might hold out to see if full-name signatures ever emerge.

Maybe it doesn't matter. For now, even the one-name signatures are commanding significant dollars.

WELL, THAT ESCALATED QUICKLY.

On the very first day 2016 Topps Star Wars: The Force Awakens Chrome was released, the 1/1 Daisy Ridley Autographed Superfractor (on-card signature) - the cornerstone of the entire release and maybe the most significant Star Wars card in more than 10 years – was pulled from a pack and placed on eBay for a staggering $14,999.99.

So if your budget was $15K for the historic card, there you go. You save a penny.

Actually, that price tag was the asking price. Although no Best Offer option was available, it's likely the seller "sketchopolix" would receive offers for the card. At the time this issue went to press, the eBay auction had more than 20 days remaining. NSU

RRParks CARDS Promo Cards Checklist

Inside this issue of Non-Sport Update are 25 different 1959 Three Stooges Reissue Series promo cards and four different Halloween-themed promo cards from RRParks Cards. Listed below is some explanation and a checklist:

1959 Three Stooges Reissue Series

Promos are published 'retro stalgic' style, non-glossy -- just like the card series. According to RRParks' Richard Parks, "one of the fun aspects of the original '59 series, which I'm reviving for the reissue series, are the numerous identified color variations to be found while collecting the original series. Since the 'reissue' series has 16 of these, I decided to incorporate that aspect into the promo cards."

- ☐ 1. Wrapper Design
- ☐ 2. Larry
- ☐ 3. Moe (green)
- ☐ 4. Moe (tan)
- ☐ 5. Curly
- ☐ 6. Lost Your Mind (violet Larry)
- ☐ 7. Lost Your Mind (blue Larry)
- ☐ 8. About Face
- ☐ 9. Hey Moe (orange)
- ☐ 10. Hey Moe (dark grey)
- ☐ 11. Birds of a Feather (violet)
- ☐ 12. Birds of a Feather (orange)
- ☐ 13. Haircut
- ☐ 14. Get Into the Ring
- ☐ 15. Money in Your Shoes
- ☐ 16. Using Your Head, Curly
- ☐ 17. Squeeze Play
- ☐ 18. And Like It
- ☐ 19. Doctor In the House (green Moe)
- ☐ 20. Doctor In the House (yellow Moe)
- ☐ 21. All the Corn
- ☐ 22. That Hat Won't Fit
- ☐ 23. Contact!
- ☐ 24. Got a Bite
- ☐ 25. You Ain't Human!

RRParksCARDS Halloween Promos

The Halloween promos are printed with high glossy UV although most of the actual card series themselves will be 'retro stalgic'; Dungeon of Dr. Dreck will be printed on thick 'super glossy'.

- ☐ 1. Monster Choke n Gag III
- ☐ 2. Dungeon of Dr. Dreck (and Moaner the Zombie Cheerleader)
- ☐ 3. Grim Reaper II
- ☐ 4. Halloween Trick or Treat IV

UPCOMING EVENTS...

Are you running a card show that has a large percentage of non-sports cards offered for sale? If so, send us the details of the show and we will try to list it. We will not list shows unless we have detailed information in writing and will only list shows that have a high percentage of non-sport cards for sale.

September 25—A collectable show featuring non-sport cards, comics, toys, and more will be held at the Franklin Elks Hall in Franklin, MA. Show hours are 10 AM to 3 PM. Admission is $4. For more information, call Harry Martin at 508-241-2155. <mymummy.com>

UPDATE

WHAT'S LISTED

Products listed in the Price Guide typically:

- Are produced by licensed manufacturers
- Are widely available
- Have market activity on single items

HOW IT'S LISTED

The sort order of the checklists are somewhat unique. All sets are listed 1) alphabetically then 2) chronologically. However, some exceptions have been made to further accommodate the reader. For instance, when it comes to recurring series, television seasons or film franchises and their sequels, all checklists will be grouped together in the same block. For example, if a reader was looking for sets devoted to James Bond or Harry Potter, they would find all sets devoted to these franchises in the same block. They would be listed chronologically while still adhering to the alphabetization of the entire section.

WHAT THE COLUMNS MEAN

The LO and HI columns reflect current retail selling ranges. The HI column on the right generally represents the full retail selling price. The LO column on the left generally represents the lowest price one would expect to find with extensive shopping.

MULTIPLIERS

Parallel sets and lightly traded insert sets are listed with multipliers to provide values of unlisted cards. Multiplier ranges (i.e. 20X to 40X) apply only to the HI column. Example: If base card A lists for 20 to 50 cents, and the multiplier is "20X to 40X," then the parallel version of card A or the insert card in question is valued at $10 to $20.

PRICING PREMIUMS

Some cards can trade at premium price levels compared to values listed in this issue. Those include but are not limited to: cards that became hot since this issue went to press, fan favorites (such as Harrison Ford) who may be in high demand, and memorabilia cards with unusually dramatic swatches, props, or patches.

STATED ODDS AND PRINT RUNS

Odds of pulling inserts are listed as a ratio (1:12 = 1 in 12 packs). If the odds vary by pack type, they are listed separately. Stated odds are provided by the manufacturer based on the entire print run and should not be viewed as a guarantee by neither Beckett Media nor the manufacturer.

GRADING

All cards in the price guide are based on NrMint to Mint condition. Damaged cards are generally sold for 25 to 75 percent of Mint value.

CURRENCY

This price guide is intended to reflect the entire North American market. While not all of the cards are produced in the United States, they will reflect the market value in U.S. dollars.

ONLY A REFERENCE

The data and pricing information contained within this publication is intended for reference only and is not to be used as an endorsement of any specific product(s) or as a recommendation to buy or sell any product(s). Beckett's goal is to provide the most accurate and verifiable information in the industry. However, Beckett cannot guarantee the accuracy of all data published. Typographical errors occasionally occur and unverifiable information may reach print from time to time. Buyers and sellers of non-sports collectibles should be aware of this and handle their personal transactions at their own risk. If you discover an error, misprint, or have any suggestions for Non-Sport Update, please notify us via email at nonsports@beckett.com

NEW LISTINGS AND UPDATES

2016 Pop Century makes its debut in this edition of Non-Sport Update. Produced by Leaf, this product embodies everything that is pop culture. Movie stars, musicians, athletes and D-listers are all included for an eclectic variety of autographs and relic cards. Most notably, Daisy Ridley leads the way with several different autographs. Her base autograph is currently valued at $250-$400.

Barely missing the cut at press time was 2016 Star Wars The Force Awakens Chrome by Topps. This all-chromium set of Episode 7 in the Star Wars saga is a higher quality version of the initial Force Awakens product released in December 2015. However, the autograph checklist is much more extensive and also includes Daisy Ridley. Current sales of Ridley's Force Awakens Chrome autographs are reaching $2,000.
